

Hi Shea!

I wanted to thank you for offering your time and insight today during our informational interview about the dog training world. I can't possibly convey how much your resources and life experiences growing up in this industry broadened my view of this hidden corner of the world.

While this is not my first interview, it was the most impactful one I have ever conducted. I appreciated your openness and kindness in answering my questions, even when we went past the scheduled end of the interview. Your insight into the dog world and understanding how people will test you as you try to get your foot in the door has better prepared me for my future attempt at entering this industry with success and not failure.

Wishing you relaxation and enjoyment in your vacation next week, and I cannot wait to see your business continue to flourish in this changing environment.

Sincerely,

Faith Hill
